

Module 5

- What is WHMIS?
- Security guards should have training to understand workplace hazards and know what controls are in place to protect them from such materials, including operational policies or personal protective equipment. Security guards should also be informed by their employer about procedures to follow in case of an emergency with hazardous materials.