

Module 7

Areas Under Which You Can Be Arrested

Security guards are forbidden from using excessive force and, in most cases, are not authorized to possess or utilize a firearm. While security guards may be equipped with a baton and handcuffs, the baton can only be used for defensive purposes. The security company employing them must hold a license, and the security guards must undergo proper training.

