

Module 12

Section 3: Certification for Emergency-Level First Aid

This is solely necessary for students who do not currently hold a valid certification in emergency-level first aid. Those individuals possessing valid certification are excused from this training prerequisite. First aid training and certification are obligatory components of the foundational training program for security guards. An authorized instructor delivers instruction equivalent to the St. John Ambulance's emergency-level first aid course. Students are obligated to fulfill the emergency-level first aid training and obtain certification.