

Types of detectors

The types of alarm systems will vary, even though some systems are complex, they are all made up of three main parts, the sensor, the transmitter and the annunciator:

- The sensor is like the senses, such as sight, hearing, touch.
- The transmitter is like the nerves which carry messages from the senses to the brain.
- The control panel or annunciator, is like the brain.