

Module 10

Grounds of Discrimination

Language: Language itself is not a ground. However, it is a characteristic that may be racialized or connected to one of the race-related Code grounds such as ancestry, ethnic origin, place of origin, or in some situations race. There is usually also a link between the accent we speak with and these grounds.

