

Module 9

Written communication

Within the workplace we will also be conveying messages using written communication, in the form of reports, letters and e-mails.

A key to your success in verbal communication is your voice. Your tone of voice and volume of your voice send a message to the person(s) you are speaking to.

Use a tone of voice which is very important.