

Module 10

Grounds of Discrimination

Sex : call defined in the Code, although it is generally considered to be sex, male or female. Men and women receive equal protection under also includes a broader notion of “gender,” which can be described to each sex. The Code protects men and women from risk, including assumptions about their professional abilities that result from stereo teepees about how men and women” should” behave, dress or inter act.