

Corporate Harassment Policies

Under the Canadian Human Rights Act, Canadians have equal opportunity to work and live without being hindered by discriminatory practices. The Canada Labour Code requires employers to develop company harassment policies. What is morally wrong can never be advantageous, even when it enables you to make money in that you believe to be your advantage. The mere act of believing that some wrongful course of action constitutes an advantageous pernicious.— Marcus Tullius Cicero, statesman, orator, writer (106 – 43 BCE) holds employers responsible for the following: