

Module 6

Introduction

Emergency Situations : It is crucial for security guards to possess the knowledge required to identify potential emergency situations and understand the corresponding protocols to follow. These emergencies can encompass a wide range of scenarios, including but not limited to fires, explosives, weapons, suspicious packages, or explosive devices. The severity of personal injuries and property damage resulting from such emergencies can vary significantly.

